

Enabling easy and affordable access to healthcare in Africa

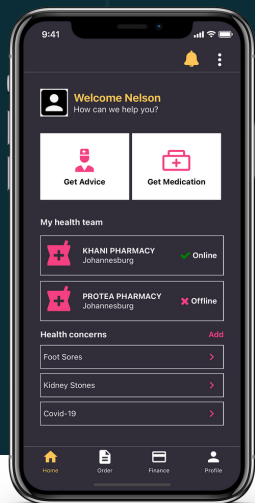

About HealthDart

HealthDart's mobile app connects customers in South Africa's low-income areas with a network of local, independent pharmacies and healthcare providers. It enables customers to get health advice, and order medication or health products for doorstep delivery.

Why HealthDart

300 million Africans face fragmented access to out-of-pocket healthcare, along with steep costs that often prohibit timely access to care when needed. Furthermore, minimal health data and information asymmetry also make the healthy journeys of these populations difficult to navigate.

HealthDart addresses these challenges by removing access and affordability barriers. Through their app and digital channels, patients can get health advice or order medication. In the future, they aspire to unlock greater access to healthcare services by offering credit, as well as expanding on their current suite of offerings with digital and at-home healthcare consultations.

How it works

- 1 Customer downloads the HealthDart app and registers for the service
- 2 Customer can place an order for prescription, over-the-counter or front-shop medication; and/or request health advice
- 3 HealthDart and pharmacy partner provides advice and confirms order item availability, with pricing. Customer accepts quote, including delivery cost
- 4 HealthDart collects and delivers order within 3 hours of customer acceptance
